

DOMINOES TOURNAMENT

Official tournament format & scoring rules

4+ MATCHES PER PLAYER / ROTATING PARTNERS / TOP 8 PLAYERS ADVANCE

1 QUALIFYING PHASE

The planned field is 24 players on six tables; the final player count may vary. Each table has two teams of two. Every player must play at least four qualifying matches. If more matches are needed than tables available, finish all waves of a round before starting the next round.

Partners rotate each round. The organizer assigns a randomized, prepared schedule with no repeated teammates and as few repeated tablemates as possible. If the player count is not a multiple of four, rotate byes as evenly as possible. A bye earns no win, loss, or points and is not a played match. Add enough rounds for everyone to play at least four matches; some may play five. With 24 players, play four qualifying rounds.

2 MATCH SCORING

Play successive hands until one team reaches 100 or more points. That team wins the match. The race to 100 counts as one match; individual hands do not count as separate match wins.

Both teammates receive their team's full final score toward their individual qualifying totals. Points above 100 count in full. Each winning player also receives one match win; losing players keep their points but receive no win. Scores reset to zero for each new match.

Example: A 108-75 result gives each winner 1 win + 108 points and each loser 0 wins + 75 points. Both teams confirm the final score before it is reported to the organizer.

3 RANKING & QUALIFICATION

After all scheduled rounds are complete and everyone has played at least four matches, rank players by: (1) highest win percentage (wins divided by matches played); (2) highest average points (total points divided by matches played); (3) public random draw if both are tied. Compare full values, not rounded display numbers. With equal matches played, this is equivalent to wins, then total points.

The organizer runs the tracker's random draw publicly after confirming all qualifying scores. The drawn order assigns the tied players' ranks and is saved; refreshing does not redraw.

The top eight individual players qualify and are seeded 1 through 8. They form four fixed teams: 1+8, 2+7, 3+6, and 4+5. All other players do not advance.

4 SEMIFINALS & FINAL

Semifinal A: (1+8) vs (4+5) Semifinal B: (2+7) vs (3+6)

The semifinal winners meet in the final. Teams keep the same partners for both playoff rounds. Each playoff match is a fresh race to 100 or more points; qualifying wins and points do not carry into playoff scores. One loss eliminates a team. The team that wins the final is the tournament champion.

5 GAMEPLAY RULES

These rules define the tournament format and scoring. Before play begins, the host must announce the domino variant and house rules, including the opening player, legal plays, passing or drawing, blocked or tied hands, and points awarded per hand. Apply those rules consistently at every table.
